

Reflect and connect with peers

Congratulations on completing the Sound the Alarm: Detection and Response course!

You learned how to detect and respond to security incidents, use tools like tcpdump and Wireshark, and understand the incident response lifecycle that can help you protect organizations from cyber attacks.

You can continue to explore these topics and deepen your understanding by connecting with other learners.

Learning is more rewarding when you're part of a supportive community. As a reminder, you can connect with fellow learners by accessing the Google Cybersecurity Community  to discuss course content and expand your network.
